
For components serving both objects, a sender is classified as manifest if either associated object is manifest.