
The two shares differ by activation regime; they are not invariant model constants.