
Protection reduces spontaneous loss after manifestation only. It does not prevent displacement when a new element enters a full retention set.